

Within the framework of its policy of transparency, independence and professionalism, and aware of the particular responsibilities linked to its extra-financial analysis in the field of transport and logistics,

TK'Blue Agency, and all its employees (managers, directors, employees and trainees) commit to respect the fundamental principles described below:

Independence

TK'Blue Agency is an extra-financial rating agency totally independent of any economic, political, religious, non-governmental or sectarian organization. The employees of European TK'Blue Agency refuse any pressure that might compromise the quality and impartiality of their activities.

Professionalism

TK'Blue Agency uses a fair and sustainable methodology, accredited by transport experts and scientists, and informs professionals of the extra-financial rating criteria used. These criteria are evolving, International, European and public. TK'Blue Agency has its methodology validated by its Scientific Council and submits it to the control of its Supervisory Board. The sources of information are transparent, and the results can be traced and consulted.

TK'Blue Agency, and its collaborators, are committed to provide a tangible, verified and verifiable analysis. The credibility of the Agency is ensured by the gathered expertise of board supervisory and decision-making bodies, as well as by the scientific recognition of the extra-financial rating criteria taken into account.

Responsibility

With a view to a clear separation of activities and impartiality, TK'Blue Agency focuses on its core business: analysis. TK'Blue undertakes not to engage in consulting activities. No employee of European TK'Blue Agency will be allowed to carry out any consulting assignment in the field of logistics in parallel with his or her work at the Agency.

European TK'Blue Agency is committed, within the limits of its resources, to implement within its structure, good practices in terms of social and environmental responsibility and transparency.
